

This research aims to thrill-seeking relationship and affinity with t male secondary students is the second town of sabzevar is doing this research in terms of the fundamental objectives and in terms of methodology, a description of the type of correlation is a statistical population this study includes all male students the second city high St Pilgrims in the year 2270 that includes 97-1396 people. For a sampling of cluster sampling method was used for multistage sample size formula was based on the Cochran information gathering tool 329 people, affinity questionnaire (1987), the scale of the thrill-seeking kids and self-efficacy questionnaire questionnaires Morris (2001) for analysis L information in descriptive statistics and inferential statistics techniques will be used to fit. In this way the beginning information using the methods of descriptive statistics like frequency distribution table, charts, indices, correlation coefficient and dispersion parameters were described. As well as the affinity and (its components) with the second male high school students self-efficacy is a town of sabzevar, Iran does not have the relationship and also the excitement (of it) with a male high school student self-efficacy is the second town of sabzevar, Iran does not have a relationship.